IMPORTANT

This document is fictional. It is not issued by any government, does not describe current law, and must not be used for legal, recruitment, financial, or employment decisions.

RegOps should treat this file as one source document, preserve its exact bytes, compute a lowercase SHA-256 hash, and attach every extracted obligation to a page-level citation.

PART I

Purpose, scope and definitions

§1. Purpose

This synthetic notice demonstrates an amendment to a fictional overseas recruitment fee framework. It is written to support controlled testing of document understanding, evidence verification, operational impact investigation, and human approval workflows.

§2. Scope

The notice applies only to the fictional licensed recruitment agencies, synthetic employment contracts, synthetic policies, and synthetic deployment files included in the RegOps demonstration corpus.

§3(a). Migrant worker

A synthetic person represented in the demonstration corpus as seeking or holding an overseas employment placement. No real person is represented by this definition.

§3(b). Placement fee

Any recruitment service charge, agency commission, placement charge, documentation handling charge, or equivalent amount collected directly or indirectly from a migrant worker as a condition of recruitment or deployment.

§3(c). Employer-paid administrative cost

A documented cost paid by the employer and not recovered from the worker through wages, deductions, deposits, reimbursements, or a related-party payment.

§3(d). Shadow amendment

A proposed contract change applied only to an isolated synthetic copy for preview and revalidation. A shadow amendment does not alter an authoritative source contract.

Change	Operational meaning
Worker-paid placement fee	Synthetic limit changes to BDT 0
Published fee schedule	Reissue within 30 days
Medical examination	Permitted only when employer-paid
Existing files	Review before the effective date

PART II

Operative fee amendments

§4(a). Worker-paid placement fees

No licensed recruitment agency shall charge a migrant worker any placement fee; permissible costs are limited to those defined in §4(b).

For this synthetic amendment, the maximum placement fee payable by a migrant worker is BDT 0. A fee may not be collected through a wage deduction, deposit, reimbursement, related-party payment, or another arrangement with the same effect.

§4(b). Permissible employer-paid costs

An employer may pay documented administrative costs and required medical examination costs. The agency must not recover those amounts from the worker directly or indirectly. A worker-facing contract must describe the worker's payable amount as BDT 0.

§5(a). Fee schedule publication

Each licensed recruitment agency must reissue its published fee schedule within 30 days after this amendment is issued. The reissued schedule must identify the BDT 0 worker-paid placement fee limit and distinguish employer-paid costs.

§5(b). Internal policy review

An annual-review policy is not sufficient by itself. Any internal policy or appendix that retains the prior fee schedule must be marked for update before the effective date.

§6. Medical examination exception

Employer-paid medical examination costs remain permissible under this amended synthetic rule when no amount is transferred to, deducted from, or reclaimed from the worker.

§7. Effective date

The provisions in Part II take effect on 1 October 2026.

PART III

Transition, records and review

§8(a). Existing synthetic contracts

Before the effective date, an agency must review each active synthetic contract that requires a worker-paid placement fee, recruitment service charge, documentation charge, or equivalent payment.

§8(b). Existing synthetic deployment files

A deployment file recording a fee collected before the effective date must be queued for fee-reconciliation review. This notice does not state that the earlier synthetic payment was unlawful and does not authorize an automated refund.

§9. Controlled amendments

A proposed amendment to an active synthetic contract must remain a draft until an authorized human reviewer approves or rejects it. Rejection must not execute the draft, resolve the underlying finding, or change the source contract.

§10. Evidence retention

The demonstration system should retain the source document identifier, page number, exact quoted text, related synthetic record identifier, action outcome, and authoritative run transition needed to explain each finding.

§11. Duplicate prevention

A repeated attempt to create or execute the same controlled action for the same run and finding must not create a second action or a second approval decision.

§12. Non-authoritative model output

Automated extraction and impact investigation results are candidates only. They become authoritative demonstration records only after deterministic schema, citation, identity, binding, and policy verification succeeds.

END OF SYNTHETIC NOTICE

This fictional document exists solely for the RegOps demonstration. All agencies, workers, contracts, policies, cases, obligations, findings, and decisions connected to it are synthetic.
